Your Challenges

Are you concerned about rising marketing costs, along with high traveling expenses, while navigating the rapidly changing business environments in the DACH & Italian markets ?

If so, you might consider engaging directly with experts in source markets to reduce travel expenses, increase website traffic, and enhance your presence as well as e-marketing efforts in the German-speaking markets, ensuring effective representation and attracting FIT opportunities.

Our Solutions are customized to fit your needs

To increase market exposure and revenue, we are leveraging digital marketing channels and implementing a direct sales approach that includes product training with all major players.

This will increase your brand recognition and traffic to your website and exposure in travel catalogues. All of this is supported by regular newsletters with as reach of over 10,000 Travel Agents and Tour Operators in the DACH & ItalianMarkets.

The Keks Story

KEKS is the German word for a cookie.

Everyone loves cookies, they have been with us from an early age, whether as sweet Christmas cookies or as salty snack cookies, filled with fruit or chocolate, there are spiced cookies as well as crispy and very soft ones. Nothing is as varied and multifaceted, as individual as cookies and there is a personal favorite for every taste, baked according to a unique recipe.

And we at KEKS act according to this principle because even though many of our partners have the same business model, none of them is identical to the others and everyone needs individual and very personal solutions, which we find and "bake" together. Partners of KEKS Tourism Consulting enjoy the advantage of receiving customized solutions tailored to their personal taste and not a cookie is baked the same way for everyone.

Our team consist of four cookies that are inherently different in texture, taste, and filling but totally complementary to each other. Together, we sweeten your business.
